FOREWORD

I welcome you to the NDP IV Citizen Guide. Uganda has embarked on a journey to transform its economy and improve the quality of life of every citizen. Through the Tenfold Growth Strategy, Government aims to grow the economy to US$500 billion by 2040.

NDP IV provides the framework for turning this ambition into reality. I therefore call upon all citizens to work diligently in their respective fields and play their part in ensuring that the Plan is fully implemented. Farmers should increase production and embrace value addition; businesses should invest, innovate and create jobs; young people should acquire relevant skills and pursue productive opportunities; and public officers should deliver services efficiently, transparently and with integrity.

I particularly encourage Ugandans, especially households still producing mainly for their own consumption, to take advantage of Government programmes such as the Parish Development Model, Emyooga and other wealth-creation initiatives. These programmes provide opportunities for citizens to access financing, establish viable enterprises, produce for the market and progressively join the money economy.

Households that receive financing through the Parish Revolving Fund under the Parish Development Model should select enterprises suited to their skills, local conditions and available markets. They should use the funds for the intended enterprises, seek guidance from the relevant technical officers at the sub-county level, keep proper records, save and reinvest part of their earnings, and repay the funds as agreed so that other community members can also benefit. The Parish Development Model should be viewed as a long-term opportunity to build sustainable household incomes rather than as short-term assistance.

The US$500 billion economy will be built parish by parish, household by household and enterprise by enterprise. Let each of us ask: What can I produce better? What value can I add? What problem can I solve? What opportunity can I create for others? By answering these questions through hard work, discipline, and innovation, we can fully implement NDP IV and build a prosperous Uganda for present and future generations.

Hon. Amos Lugolobi

Minister of State for Finance, Planning and Economic Development (Planning)

REMARKS FROM THE CHAIRPERSON

I am pleased to present the Fourth National Development Plan (NDP IV) Citizen Guide, prepared to help every Ugandan understand Uganda's development priorities and the opportunities they create over the next five years.

NDP IV is Uganda's roadmap for creating jobs, increasing household incomes, improving public services, and transforming our economy. It is the first of three five-year plans that will deliver the Tenfold Growth Strategy, which aims to grow Uganda's economy from USD 53.7 billion in FY 2023/24 to USD 500 billion by 2040. Achieving this ambition will require strategic investments in agro-industrialisation, tourism, mineral development (including oil and gas), science, technology and innovation, as well as quality infrastructure, education, healthcare, and good governance.

This Citizen Guide translates NDP IV into simple, practical language that everyone can understand. It explains the Plan's priorities, highlights the opportunities available to citizens, and demonstrates how every Ugandan, including farmers, youth, women, students, workers, entrepreneurs, investors, and local leaders, can contribute to and benefit from Uganda's development.

National development is a shared responsibility. Government has a responsibility to provide leadership, sound policies, and essential public services. The private sector has a responsibility to drive investment, innovation, and job creation. Development partners, civil society, and cultural and religious institutions have a responsibility to support Government's efforts to advance Uganda's national transformation. Above all, every citizen has a responsibility to work hard, embrace innovation, acquire new skills, pay taxes, protect the environment, use public resources responsibly, hold leaders accountable, and actively participate in the development of their communities.

I encourage every Ugandan to read this Guide, share it with family and friends, and use it to identify opportunities to improve their livelihoods while contributing to the implementation of NDP IV. Through hard work, patriotism, and collective action, we can build a prosperous, inclusive, and self-reliant Uganda.

Together, we can transform Uganda. Together, we can build the future we want.

Prof. Pamela K. Mbabazi

Chairperson
National Planning Authority

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

NDP IV places the private sector and productive enterprise at the centre of Uganda's economic transformation. The Plan recognises that achieving faster economic growth, creating jobs, and increasing household incomes requires a conducive environment in which farmers can produce profitably, businesses can grow, investors can invest with confidence, and Ugandan products can compete effectively in domestic, regional, and international markets.

Government is therefore prioritising investments that reduce the cost of doing business and expand economic opportunities. These include reliable and affordable electricity, better roads and transport systems, improved digital connectivity, access to affordable financing, industrial parks, skills development, and stronger market linkages. NDP IV also emphasises value addition so that Uganda increasingly processes its agricultural and mineral resources locally, develops competitive industries, and earns more from its productive potential.

Across the country, major projects will support this transformation. These include the Hoima Oil Refinery and the East African Crude Oil Pipeline; rural electrification; Kabalega Industrial Park and other industrial parks; the Standard and Meter Gauge Railways; the Kampala–Jinja Expressway; Regional Referral Hospitals; the Uganda Digital Acceleration Programme; and investments in tourism, education, and skills development. These investments are intended to lower production and transport costs, improve connectivity and public services, attract investment, expand markets, and create jobs and business opportunities for Ugandans.

However, infrastructure and Government programmes alone will not transform our country. We must turn these investments into productive economic activity. I therefore encourage every Ugandan to work hard, improve productivity, acquire relevant skills, embrace technology and innovation, start and grow businesses, add value to what we produce, and take advantage of the opportunities being created under NDP IV. I particularly encourage young people to pursue the emerging opportunities in agriculture, industry, tourism, minerals, technology, and other productive sectors.

The ultimate success of NDP IV will be measured not only by the infrastructure we build or the growth of the economy, but by whether that growth translates into more jobs, higher household incomes, stronger businesses, and an improved quality of life for Ugandans.

Let us therefore seize the opportunities provided by NDP IV, work hard and productively, create and grow businesses, generate jobs, increase household incomes, and contribute to building a prosperous and transformed Uganda.

What is NDP IV?

Every family plans for its future. In the same way, Uganda has a national plan to guide its development and improve the lives of its people over the next five years.

The Fourth National Development Plan (NDP IV) is Uganda's roadmap for creating jobs, increasing household incomes, improving public services, and building a stronger, more prosperous economy between 2025 and 2030.

NDP IV is the first of three five-year National Development Plans that will implement Uganda's Tenfold Growth Strategy, which aims to grow the economy from USD 53.7 billion in FY 2023/24 to USD 500 billion by 2040.

The Plan outlines Government's priorities, investments, and actions needed to transform Uganda into a modern, industrialised, and prosperous middle-income country.

Our National Goal

Our national goal is to build a prosperous Uganda where every citizen enjoys a better quality of life through:

- ➔ Higher household incomes;
 - ➔ More and better-paying jobs;
 - ➔ A fully monetised economy, where more Ugandans earn sustainable incomes through productive farming, work, and business;
 - ➔ Better public services, including quality education, healthcare, clean water, reliable electricity, and improved roads; and
 - ➔ A modern, competitive, and industrialised economy that creates wealth and expands opportunities.

The Uganda We Want by 2030

By 2030, Uganda aims to be a more prosperous country with greater opportunities, better public services, and a higher quality of life for every citizen. Through NDP IV, Uganda aims to achieve the following outcomes:

- Nearly one million new jobs every year to expand employment and income opportunities;
- Higher household incomes and lower poverty levels so that more families can live better lives;
- Better education and skills training to prepare Ugandans for the jobs of today and tomorrow;
- Improved healthcare services to help people live longer, healthier, and more productive lives;
- Reliable electricity to power homes, farms, businesses, and industries;
- Faster and wider internet access to support learning, innovation, business, and public service delivery;
- Better roads and transport networks to connect communities, reduce travel time, and improve access to markets;
- More industries and factories to promote value addition, increase production, and create decent jobs;
- Higher exports and more business opportunities to strengthen Uganda's economy and attract investment; and
- A better quality of life for every Ugandan through inclusive, sustainable, and people-centred development.

Together, these achievements will build a stronger economy, create opportunities for all, and improve the quality of life for every Ugandan.

NDP IV Targets

Government will regularly monitor and report on these indicators to track Uganda's progress, promote accountability, and ensure that NDP IV delivers better lives for all Ugandans.

Indicator	Where We Are Today	Where We Want to Be
Size of the Economy	USD 53.7 billion (FY 2023/24)	USD 500 billion by 2040 through the Tenfold Growth Strategy

Internet Access	53% of Ugandans (2022)	77% of Ugandans by FY 2029/30

NDP IV priorities

Government is focusing on four priority growth areas with the greatest potential to create jobs, increase household incomes, boost exports, and grow Uganda's economy. These priority growth areas are agro-industrialisation, tourism, mineral development (including oil and gas), and science, technology and innovation, collectively known as ATMS.

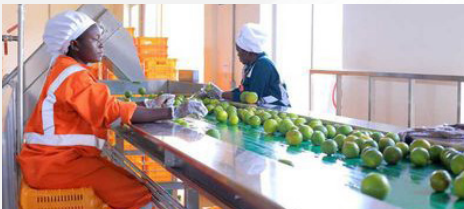

Agro-industrialisation

NDP IV aims to transform agriculture from subsistence farming into a modern, competitive, and profitable agribusiness. It promotes value addition by processing crops, livestock, and fisheries products to create jobs, increase household incomes, and strengthen Uganda's economy.

Government is committed to:

- Increasing agricultural production through modern farming.
- Promoting value addition to agricultural products.
- Increasing household incomes through better access to markets.

Tourism

NDP IV positions tourism as a key driver of economic growth by promoting Uganda's rich wildlife, natural beauty, historical attractions, and cultural heritage to attract more visitors, create jobs, increase household incomes, and attract investment.

Government is committed to:

- Attracting more visitors.
- Creating more jobs in tourism and hospitality.
- Increasing household incomes through tourism businesses and services.
- Developing world-class tourism destinations that attract investment and grow local economies.

Minerals, Oil and Gas

NDP IV promotes value addition to Uganda's minerals, oil, and gas resources by processing them within Uganda rather than exporting them in raw form. This will create jobs, increase household incomes, attract investment, boost exports, and grow the economy.

Government is committed to:

- Processing more minerals into higher-value products such as steel, cement, fertilisers, jewellery, battery materials, and other manufactured goods.
- Developing mineral-based industries that add value to Uganda's minerals, oil, and gas resources.
- Creating more jobs, increasing household incomes, boosting exports, and growing the economy through local processing and value addition.

Science, Technology and Innovation

NDP IV promotes science, technology, and innovation as key drivers of productivity, competitiveness, and economic transformation. By investing in research, innovation, and digital technologies, the Plan aims to create jobs, improve public services, increase business productivity, and build a modern, knowledge-based economy.

Government is committed to:

- Supporting innovation and entrepreneurship to develop new products, services, and businesses.
- Expanding digital services to improve productivity, access to information, and public service delivery.
- Developing technology-based industries that create high-value jobs and drive economic growth.
- Equipping young people with future-ready skills for the digital economy.

Government Is Also Investing In

To unlock the full potential of the four priority growth areas (ATMS), Government is also investing in the key enablers needed to support economic growth, create jobs, and improve service delivery. These include:

-  Better roads and bridges to connect people, markets, and services.
-  Modern railways to reduce transport costs and boost trade.
-  Reliable electricity to power homes, farms, industries, and businesses.
-  Faster internet and digital infrastructure to support learning, innovation, and business.
-  Quality education and skills development to prepare Ugandans for the jobs of today and tomorrow.
-  Better healthcare services to improve health and well-being.
-  Safe and clean water for homes, agriculture, and industry.
-  Environmental protection and climate resilience to safeguard Uganda's natural resources for future generations.
-  Peace, security, and the rule of law to support investment and sustainable development.
-  Good governance and efficient public services to strengthen accountability, transparency, and service delivery.

How Is NDP IV Implemented?

Achieving the goals of NDP IV requires everyone to work together. The implementation of the Plan is a shared responsibility among Central Government, Local Governments, the private sector, development partners, civil society, communities, and every Ugandan.

Who?	What They Do
Central Government	Develops policies, mobilises resources, provides leadership, and delivers national programmes and public services.
Local Governments	Plan, coordinate, and implement Government programmes and development projects in districts, cities, municipalities, sub-counties, and parishes.
Private Sector	Invests, creates jobs, adds value, produces goods and services, and drives economic growth.
Development Partners	Provide technical assistance, financing, and capacity building to complement Government development efforts.
Civil Society and Community Organisations	Mobilise communities, support service delivery, promote accountability, and complement Government development efforts.
Communities and Citizens	Participate in Government programmes, use public services responsibly, protect public investments, hold leaders accountable, and contribute to national development.

What NDP IV Means for You

For Farmers

Government is committed to:

- Expanding irrigation to increase agricultural productivity and production.
- Improving storage and post-harvest handling facilities.
- Promoting agro-processing and value addition.
- Connecting farmers to local, regional, and international markets

You can:

- Join or form a registered farmer cooperative. Contact your Parish Chief, Sub-county Office, District Commercial Officer, District Community Development Officer, or a nearby registered cooperative for guidance and support. Cooperatives provide access to training, affordable inputs, credit, storage, markets, and Government programmes and services.
- Adopt modern farming methods by consulting your Sub-county Agricultural Extension Officer or District Production Officer for guidance on improved farming practices, quality inputs, climate-smart agriculture, irrigation, pest and disease management, and post-harvest handling.
- Add value to your produce through processing, grading, packaging, and branding to increase its value and earn higher incomes.

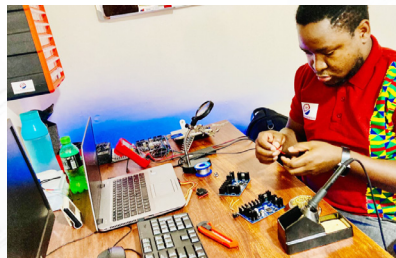

You will benefit from:

- Higher crop and livestock productivity.
- Better prices for your produce.
- Increased household incomes.
- Reduced post-harvest losses.
- Reliable access to markets.
- Improved food and nutrition security.

For the Youth

Government is committed to:

- Expanding technical and vocational skills training.
- Supporting youth innovation and entrepreneurship.
- Developing industrial parks and creating decent jobs.
- Promoting digital skills and employment opportunities.

You can:

- Learn practical and digital skills by enrolling at a Presidential Skilling Hub, a nearby vocational training institution, or your Community ICT Hub. Contact your Sub-county Office, District Education Officer, or District Community Development Officer for information on available training programmes.
- Start or grow a business by accessing entrepreneurship training, business development support, and affordable finance through the Parish Development Model (PDM), Youth Livelihood Programme (YLP), or a registered Savings and Credit Cooperative (SACCO). Contact your Sub-county Community Development Officer, District Community Development Officer, or District Commercial Officer for information and guidance on available opportunities.

- Innovate and build a business by accessing mentorship, incubation, technology, and business development support through your Community ICT Hub, Presidential Skilling Hub, nearby vocational training institution, Uganda Industrial Research Institute (UIRI), National ICT Innovation Hub, or District Commercial Officer.
- Stay healthy and productive by making positive lifestyle choices and avoiding harmful behaviours such as alcohol and drug abuse, violence, and risky sexual behaviour.

You will benefit from:

- More employment opportunities.
- Higher incomes and improved livelihoods.
- Greater opportunities for entrepreneurship and innovation.
- Improved technical and digital skills.
- Increased access to finance, markets, and business support.

For Students

Government is committed to:

- Building and rehabilitating schools, classrooms, laboratories, and learning facilities.
- Improving the quality of teaching and learning outcomes.
- Expanding technical and vocational skills training.
- Promoting digital learning and expanding access to technology.

You can:

- Stay in school and complete your education to build the knowledge, skills, and values needed for employment, entrepreneurship, and lifelong success.
- Develop practical and digital skills by enrolling at a Presidential Skilling Hub, a nearby vocational training institution, or your Community ICT Hub.
- Use technology to learn, innovate, and solve problems by accessing digital learning resources, online courses, innovation clubs, libraries, and ICT facilities at your school or in your community.
- Avoid child marriage and teenage pregnancy so you can stay in school, complete your education, and achieve your full potential

You will benefit from:

- Better quality education.
- Improved practical, technical, and digital skills.
- Greater opportunities for higher education, employment, and entrepreneurship.
- Enhanced capacity for innovation, lifelong learning, and personal development.

For Women

Government is committed to:

- Improving maternal and reproductive healthcare services.
- Supporting women's entrepreneurship and economic empowerment.
- Expanding access to affordable financial and business development services.

You can:

- Seek quality maternal and reproductive healthcare by visiting your nearest Health Centre, Hospital, or Village Health Team (VHT) for antenatal care, safe delivery, postnatal care, family planning, and other reproductive health services.
- Start or grow a business by accessing entrepreneurship training, business development support, and affordable finance through the Parish Development Model (PDM), Uganda Women Entrepreneurship Programme (UWEP), Generating Growth Opportunities and Productivity for Women Enterprises (GROW) Project, or a registered Savings and Credit Cooperative (SACCO). Contact your Sub-county Community Development Officer, District Community Development Officer, or District Commercial Officer for information and guidance on available opportunities.
- Join a savings group or SACCO by contacting your PDM Committee, Sub-county Community Development Officer, District Community Development Officer, District Commercial Officer, or a registered SACCO in your area. Regular saving and responsible borrowing can help you invest in farming, business, education, and other income-generating activities.

You will benefit from:

- Improved maternal and family health.
- Greater economic empowerment and financial independence.
- Increased household incomes.
- Better access to finance, markets, and business opportunities.
- Improved wellbeing for you and your family.

For Workers

Government is committed to:

- Creating more decent jobs across all sectors of the economy.
- Expanding technical, vocational, and lifelong skills development.
- Improving labour productivity, occupational safety, and workers' welfare.
- Supporting industries and businesses that generate employment opportunities.

You can:

- Upgrade your technical, digital, and professional skills through accredited training institutions, Presidential Skilling Hubs, or Community ICT Hubs to improve your employability and career prospects.
- Work productively and uphold professionalism, integrity, and a strong work ethic in your workplace.
- Embrace innovation and digital technologies to improve productivity and remain competitive in the changing world of work.
- Save and invest your income through registered SAC-COs, commercial banks, or other formal financial institutions.

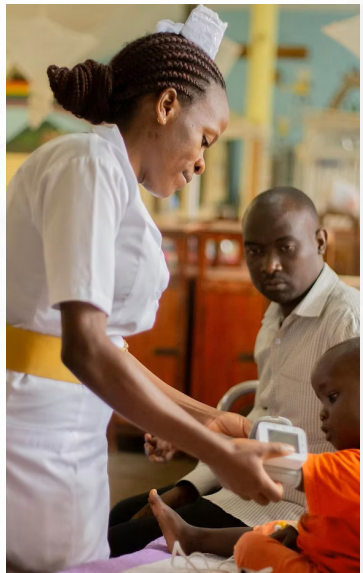

You will benefit from:

- More and better-paying jobs.
- Higher incomes and improved livelihoods.
- Better skills and career advancement opportunities.
- Safer working conditions and higher productivity.

For Persons with Disabilities

Government is committed to:

- Expanding inclusive education and skills development.
- Improving access to healthcare, rehabilitation, and assistive technologies.
- Promoting inclusive employment and entrepreneurship opportunities.
- Improving accessibility to public infrastructure, information, and Government services.

You can:

- Access inclusive education, vocational training, and digital skills programmes through inclusive schools, vocational training institutions, Community ICT Hubs, or Presidential Skilling Hubs.
- Start or grow a business by accessing entrepreneurship training, business development services, and affordable finance through your Parish Development Model (PDM) Committee, Sub-county Community Development Officer, or a registered SACCO.
- Join disability support groups or organisations to access information, advocacy, Government programmes, and economic opportunities.
- Participate actively in community development and decision-making processes.
- Access assistive technologies and rehabilitation services through your nearest health facility or specialised service provider to improve independence, learning, and participation.

You will benefit from:

- Greater inclusion, equal opportunities, and participation in society.
- Better access to education, skills, and employment.
- Increased economic empowerment and financial independence.
- Improved access to public services and infrastructure.

For Older Persons

Government is committed to:

- Improving access to quality healthcare services.
- Strengthening social protection programmes, including the Senior Citizens Grant (SAGE).
- Supporting community-based care and wellbeing.
- Promoting the active participation of older persons in community development.

You can:

- Access healthcare services, the Senior Citizens Grant (SAGE), and other Government programmes through your nearest Health Centre, Parish Chief, Sub-county Community Development Officer, or District Community Development Officer.
- Share your knowledge, skills, and experience to mentor young people and support community development.
- Participate in savings groups, cooperatives, and community initiatives to strengthen your social and economic wellbeing.
- Stay active by participating in social, cultural, and community activities that promote health and wellbeing.

You will benefit from:

- Better access to healthcare and social services.
- Improved social protection through programmes such as the Senior Citizens Grant (SAGE).
- Greater participation and inclusion in community life.
- Improved quality of life, dignity, and wellbeing.

For Local Leaders

Government is committed to:

- Strengthening local government service delivery.
- Building institutional capacity for planning and implementation.
- Improving local infrastructure and public services.
- Promoting transparency, accountability, and citizen participation.

You can:

- Mobilise communities to participate in the implementation of NDP IV, Government programmes, and local development projects.
- Promote accountability, transparency, and the responsible use of public resources.
- Support local economic development by encouraging investment, entrepreneurship, and value addition.
- Engage citizens in planning, budgeting, implementing, and monitoring development programmes and projects.

You will benefit from:

- Better service delivery.
- Stronger local economies.
- Increased citizen participation and trust.
- More effective and accountable local governance.

For Civil Servants

Government is committed to:

- Strengthening public institutions and service delivery.
- Building the capacity and skills of public officers.
- Expanding digital Government systems and public service innovation.
- Promoting accountability, transparency, and performance management.

You can:

- Deliver quality, timely, and citizen-centred public services.
- Uphold integrity, professionalism, and accountability in the performance of your duties.
- Continuously upgrade your knowledge and skills to improve performance and adapt to new technologies.
- Support the effective implementation, monitoring, and reporting of Government programmes and projects.
- Be patriotic by working honestly, rejecting corruption, protecting public property, obeying the law, and contributing to Uganda's development.

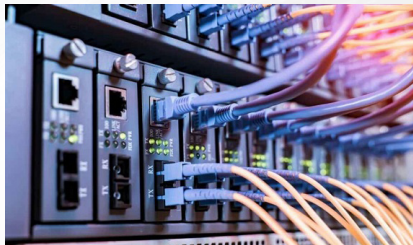

You will benefit from:

- Improved skills and professional development.
- Better tools and systems for service delivery.
- More efficient and innovative public institutions.
- Increased public trust and confidence in Government services.

For Business Owners

Government is committed to:

- Improving transport, energy, and digital infrastructure.
- Increasing access to affordable finance for businesses.
- Expanding access to regional and international markets to promote trade and exports.

You can:

- Invest in value addition by processing, packaging, branding, and preserving your products. Contact your District Commercial Officer, Uganda Industrial Research Institute (UIRI), Uganda National Bureau of Standards (UNBS), Uganda Export Promotion Board (UEPB), or a nearby Business Development Centre for training and support.
- Improve the quality of your products and services by adopting recognised quality standards and obtaining certification through the Uganda National Bureau of Standards and other relevant business support institutions.
- Adopt new technologies and expand your markets by accessing business development, innovation, and market access support through your District Commercial Officer, Uganda Industrial Research Institute, Uganda Export Promotion Board, Uganda Registration Services Bureau (URSB), Uganda National Bureau of Standards, or a nearby Business Development Centre.

You will benefit from:

- Business growth and increased competitiveness.
- More customers and expanded markets.
- Higher sales, profits, and export opportunities.

For Investors

Government is committed to:

- Establishing industrial parks and serviced investment sites.
- Improving energy supply and reliability.
- Improving transport and logistics infrastructure.
- Creating a stable and predictable business environment.

You can:

- Invest in Uganda's priority sectors, including agro-industrialisation, tourism, mineral development (including oil and gas), and science, technology and innovation. Contact the Uganda Investment Authority (UIA) or your District Commercial Officer for investment information, incentives, and business support.
- Create jobs and add value locally by investing in processing, manufacturing, and other productive enterprises that use locally available raw materials.
- Adopt modern technologies and sustainable business practices to increase productivity, reduce costs, improve competitiveness, protect the environment, and expand into regional and international markets.

You will benefit from:

- A stable and predictable investment environment.
- Reliable infrastructure and energy supply.
- Access to regional and international markets.
- Greater returns on investment and long-term business growth.

Major NDP IV Projects

NDP IV in Your District

NDP IV is being implemented in every district through national and local government programmes and projects that respond to each district's unique priorities, resources, and development opportunities. Visit your District Planning Unit, Sub-county Community Development Officer, or Parish Development Model (PDM) Committee to find out which NDP IV projects are being implemented in your area, the Government services available, the investment opportunities you can access, and how you can benefit. Your district may benefit from:

- New and improved roads and bridges to enhance transport and market access.
- Schools and skills training centres to improve education and employment opportunities.
- Health facilities to provide better healthcare services.
- Tourism projects to create jobs and increase local incomes.
- Industrial parks and factories to promote investment and employment.
- Agricultural investments to increase production, value addition, and market access.
- Digital infrastructure to improve connectivity and access to online services.
- Expanded electricity access to power homes, farms, businesses, and industries.

What Can you Do as a Citizen?

Building a prosperous Uganda is a shared responsibility. While Government is implementing NDP IV, every Ugandan has a role to play. You can:

- Work hard and be productive to improve your livelihood and contribute to national development.
- Pay your taxes to support public services, infrastructure, and national development.
- Buy Ugandan-made products to support local businesses, create jobs, and grow the economy.
- Keep children in school until they complete their education and support lifelong learning to build a skilled and productive population.
- Use technology and embrace innovation to improve productivity, create opportunities, and solve everyday challenges.
- Add value to what you produce to increase your income and strengthen Uganda's economy.
- Protect the environment and use natural resources responsibly for present and future generations.
- Report corruption and the misuse of public resources to promote accountability and good governance.
- Participate in decision-making and hold leaders accountable to promote transparency and better service delivery.
- Work with others to improve your community by participating in local development initiatives.

Uganda's Future Starts with You

Uganda has a clear plan for transforming the country and improving the lives of its people. Achieving this vision requires all of us to work together. Every Ugandan has a role to play in building a prosperous, inclusive, and sustainable nation.

Government has the responsibility to provide leadership, sound policies, and quality public services.

The private sector has the responsibility to invest, innovate, and create jobs.

Development partners have the responsibility to provide technical and financial support to complement national development efforts.

Communities have the responsibility to work together to drive local development.

Every citizen has the responsibility to work hard, embrace innovation, pay taxes, protect the environment, hold leaders accountable, and actively participate in national development.
